- i. ANN (MEEK)<sup>7</sup> COLBY, b. 1838, Bungay, Suffolk; d. 1917.

Notes for ANN (MEEK) COLBY:

Unmarried in 1881

CC

Ann was the eldest daughter of George and Elizabeth Colby. She had auburn hair, was a 'marvellous' needlewoman, perhaps rather prim and given to reading her Bible. Together with her sister Lizzie she helped to bring up James Colby's children in Bridge House. She worked as a buyer for a store in Thetford, sometimes travelling to London on business. Her last years were spent at Rossiter Road where she was looked after by her niece, Bessie Ife (nee Ling), and there Edie Gray (nee Ife) remembers her playing hymns in the dark. She died of a cancerous growth in the head.

In 1891 staying as a visitor with Ann Furlong, a 84 yr old widow from Greenwich, also living on her own means.

In 1901 she is staying in Thetford looking after her cousins who have been bereaved. She says they are nieces and nephews I should think because of the age gap.

Notes for ELIZABETH NEVILLE COLBY:

In 1871 name transcribed as Colley, staying with another draper Sarah King and her sister Charlotte Tipping.

1901 staying with her neice Elizabeth Ife. Has knocked 10 years off her age, born 1849!

CC

Lizzie, the second daughter of George and Elizabeth Colby, was a buyer in millinery for a firm in Ipswich (or possibly Norwich). She was disappointed not to have inherited something from her uncle's estate, after she had helped her sister look after his children. Her Pomeranian dog was named Jimmy (was this significant - perhaps she occasionally kicked it!). Unlike her sister, Lizzie's pleasures were more temporal than spiritual. Life at Bridge House had given her a taste for 'Johnny Walker' and she liked to keep a little by her. Frank(sen) remembers her carrying a candle and spilling the wax as she climbed the stairs-although she persistently denied that she did. She lived to the ripe old age of 88 but became too much of a responsibility for the family and ended her days in a nursing home in Croydon.
